

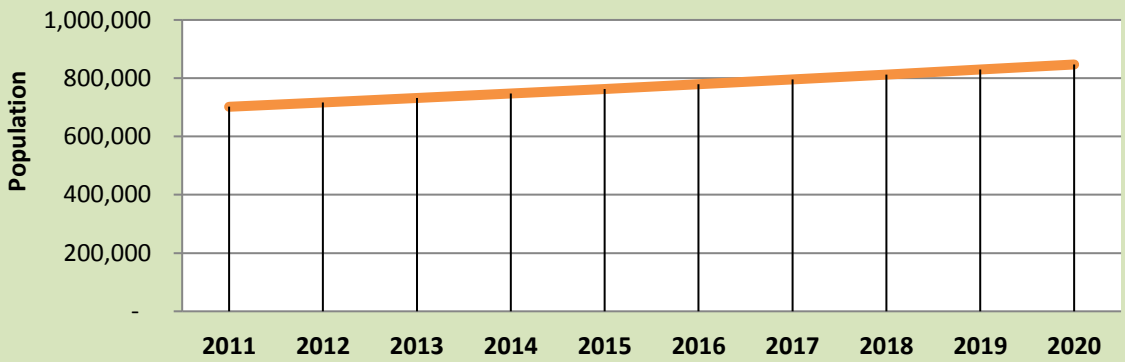

Figure 1.9
Population Projection 2011-2020
Province of Bataan

Population Density

The total land area of Bataan is 137,296 hectares or 1,372.96 square kilometers. Based on this area, the density of the province was computed at 554 persons per sq. kilometer of land area. Provincial population density in 2010 was recorded at 501 persons per square kilometer which was 23.4% higher than the 2000 figure (406 ppkm²). Dinalupihan was the most densely populated municipality having 1,051 ppkm² in 2010 and rose to 1,150 ppkm² in 2015. Second highest was Pilar having 1,112 ppkm². Orani ranked third with 1,031 ppkm², Balanga City, 861 ppkm², Orion 856 ppkm², and Mariveles 829 ppkm². The least densely populated municipality was Bagac with 117 ppkm². See graph below.

Figure 1.10
Population Density
Censal Year 2015, 2010 and 2000
Province of Bataan

